mackay's ordination of aboriginal ministers giving us the northern synod of the presbyterian church of taiwan pct was a bold departure from the imperial anglo canadian presbyterian norm so too his marriage to a taiwanese slave girl chhang mia and the arranged interracial marriages that he performed between select chinese ministers and female taiwanese graduates which included his two daughters mackay's missionary writing and famous autobiography from far formosa a fine specimen of the nineteenth century heroic memoir genre is notable for its defense of both gender and racial equality and despite its unmistakable patriarchal leanings mackay's repudiation of darwinism and belief in an early type of creation science therein also locates the so called barbarian bible man opposite such virulent racist theorizing as social darwinism and eugenics he was a dentist not an abortionist a relative unknown to most western scholars of religion mackay is taiwan's most famous native son represented on the national stage in 2008 as a sky god and taiwanese animistic deity of supernatural power and political influence par excellent although a product of the colonial times in which he lived post colonial scholars who ignore mackay his life and legacy clearly do so at some peril

in chasing the intact mind amy lutz traces the history of the intact mind concept explaining how it influences current disability policy and practice in the united states lutz describes how we got to this moment where the severely autistic are elided out of public discourse and the intensive disability specific supports they need defunded or closed altogether lutz argues that focusing on the intact mind and marginalizing those with severe disability reproduces historic patterns of discrimination that yoked human worth to intelligence and that it is only by making space for the impaired mind that we will be able to resolve these ongoing clashes as well as even larger questions of personhood dependency and care
